Dear Madam Director,

The Federal Office for Agriculture (FOAG) has examined the Canadian request for recognition of the Canadian Organic System on the basis of Article 23 of the Swiss Ordinance on Organic Farming and the Labelling of Organically Produced Products and Foodstuffs (910.18).

Based on that review, FOAG has determined that agricultural products and foodstuffs, including wine, which are produced and/or processed in Canada. And which are

- a. Certified in conformity with Canada's Organic Products Regulations, 2009 as in effect on October 1, 2016; and
- b. accompanied by a certificate of inspection for the import of products from organic production (Organic Farming Ordinance 910.181, Annex 9) completed by a CFIA-accredited certification body.

are deemed equivalent to those products that have been produced and processed in accordance with the Swiss Ordinance on Organic Farming and the Labelling of Organically Produced Products and Foodstuffs (910.18) and the Swiss Ordinance on Organic Farming of the Federal Department of Economic Affairs, Education and Research (EAER) (910.181) (hereinafter "Swiss organic ordinances"). These products may be sold, labelled and represented in Switzerland as organic, including by display of the Canadian organic logo.

This recognition will be effective as of October 1, 2016, under the conditions set forth in Appendix 1.

The Federal Department of Economic Affairs, Education and Research (EAER) has amended Annex 4 of the Swiss Ordinance on Organic Farming of the Federal Department of Economic Affairs, Education and Research (EAER) (910.181) accordingly.

Switzerland is also pleased to acknowledge Canada's recognition of the Swiss organic ordinances in its letter of today.

FOAG and the State Secretariat for Economic Affairs (SECO) are committed to working with CFIA as described in this cover letter and its associated appendices and in Canada's letter of today, 19 September, 2016 and its associated appendix.

Sincerely,

Federal Office for Agriculture
